2. Basis of presentation. These management-prepared statements are maintained on an accrual basis for lender reporting. Real estate is presented at book value net of accumulated depreciation and should not be interpreted as current fair market value.

3. Tenant receivables. Tenant receivables total $285,000 at August 31, 2026. Approximately $96,000 is more than 60 days past due. Management continues normal collection activity and has not recorded a specific allowance in these management statements.

5. Related-party amount due. The Company has $550,000 due to Redwood Creek Real Estate Holdings LLC. Management characterizes the balance as a subordinated sponsor advance used for prior capital and leasing expenditures. The advance bears interest at 4.0%, has no scheduled monthly amortization, and is payable only from available cash subject to senior lender restrictions.

6. Repairs and maintenance. TTM repairs and maintenance includes approximately $85,000 of roof and HVAC work. Management considers the work non-recurring and capital in nature for underwriting purposes, although the expenditures remain included in property operating expenses in the accompanying operating statements.

7. Subsequent financing. The Company is seeking a $12,000,000 refinance of the existing first mortgage with a targeted closing date of September 30, 2026.
