Contractual expiration	October 31, 2030

Material Clauses / Analyst Notes

• Initial term is 56 months following commencement, producing an October 31, 2030 expiration.

• Base rent is abated for March and April 2026; the stated $40,000 annual current rent is the post-abatement contractual rate and therefore does not equal 2026 cash collections.

• Tenant received a $45,000 tenant-improvement allowance, funded after lien waivers and opening for business.

• Tenant pays CAM, taxes and insurance; management fee component is capped at 5% of controllable operating expenses.

• Limited exclusive against another dedicated cold-pressed juice bar smaller than 2,500 SF, subject to existing tenants and incidental beverage sales.

• Continuous-operation covenant applies after opening, subject to casualty and force majeure.

Source / Abstractor Note

Abstract based on executed lease dated December 18, 2025, commencement confirmation dated March 1, 2026 and landlord TI disbursement records. This lease is later evidence than the March 31, 2025 appraisal and should not be treated as a contradiction merely because its $40/SF rent exceeds the appraisal's historical market-rent assumption.

Abstracting Conventions

Dates and economic terms are presented from the executed lease documents reviewed. Rent-roll fields are operational records and may be useful for billing and portfolio monitoring, but they do not amend a lease. Renewal options are not treated as exercised unless the required notice or executed amendment is present. Free-rent periods are distinguished from the contractual face rate so that cash revenue and annualized rent are not incorrectly reconciled.
